SHOOT COP AFTER TAKING HIS GUN

Policeman John R. Officer, of the Hyde Park station, was shot in the right shoulder with his own gun in an attempt to arrest Patrick Murray and Richard Brennan, both white, on the rear porch of Murray's home at 1417 East 55th Street.

Officer said that Murray, who is a milk wagon driver, and Brennan, a railroad switchman, and their wives were noisy and boisterous in the flat, and he went to the rear porch to warn them to be quiet.

He knocked on the door with his club, told them he was a policeman, and ordered them to stop their noise. Suddenly the door was pulled open and the two men leaped upon him, the policeman said. Taking his revolver, they threatened to throw him over the porch banister. In the scuffle they shot him. Neighbors hearing the shot, called the police.

CAR CO. PAYS $500 FOR LETTING RACES MIX

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 3, 1921.—The Nashville Railway and Light Company plead guilty last week to nine out of eleven charges of violating the Jim Crow Law, and Judge A. B. Anderson of the First Criminal Court assessed the Maximum fine of $25.00 and costs for each. These nine cases, along with other previously disposed of, costs the company almost $500.00 expenditure in fines alone. The "one-man" car was at the bottom of the difficulty. Street car companies in the South as elsewhere, trying to cut down operating expense have been experimenting with a type of car, in which passengers enter and leave by the front door, the motorman and conductor being the same employee. This necessitated the passing of Negroes through the white sections of the car, and the result in Nashville was these charges of permitting commingling of whites and blacks.

The crime was committed in the basement of the Hotel Salow, May 3, 1920. It was brought out at the trial that Hyler was a drug addict, and his counsel sought to gain freedom for him on the grounds that he was under the influence of drugs when he committed the act.

SENATE REJECTS 'LINC'

Lincoln Defeats Howard 13-7

FIERCE BATTLE IS FOUGHT IN SEA OF MUD

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 3.—Before nearly ten thousand or more spectators in the National League Park, Philadelphia, Pa., Thanksgiving Day, November 24th, 1921, the Howard machine, which throughout the season had remained victorious and unscored upon, fell before the Lincoln warriors in the Annual Football Classic of the year by a score of 13 to 7. On a field which was a veritable sea of mud, the two teams ploughed ankle deep through the miry sub-soil under a continuous downpour of rain in the struggle to win the season's closing football event.

The victory which went to Lincoln was secured in the last period when Captain Law pulled a forward pass out of the air and ran down the field for 25 yards to the goal line. The Lincoln triumph was unexpected and came as a surprise both to the Howard and Lincoln followers. Howard had all along been the favorite. Even after Lincoln had made a touchdown in the first quarter which was closely followed by a touchdown and a goal by Howard in the second quarter, everyone felt sure that the "Blue and White" would easily remain victorious.

Lincoln Receives Kickoff.
At the opening of the game, Lincoln won the toss and chose to receive the kickoff which went to Captain Law. Before Law was able to advance with the ball, he was downed by a Howard player. At the very outset, Lincoln called into play the famous "Dartmouth Shift." For a while the Howard warriors were unable to solve it. Lincoln was, however, held for three downs and on the fourth punted. Howard recovered the ball but gained very little in running back. She started down the field using line plunges and in three downs gained six yards and on the fourth tried a "fake kick" which was unsuccessful, thus Continued On Sport Page.

TECHNICALITY MAY LAND KENTUCKIAN IN OFFICE

Hopkinsville, Kentucky, Dec. 3, 1921. J. T. Whitney, is contesting the election of T. G. Skinner, white, to the office of city prosecutor here on Nov. 8th. Only Skinner's name appeared on the official ballot, and he received 1,385 votes. Whitney's name was written down on the ballot by seventy-six persons who preferred to vote for him. Whitney bases his contest upon the ground that the law required filing of petition of candidacy forty-five days before election, whereas Skinner did not file his petition until ten days before the election, and that the street addresses of persons signing the petition did not appear. Therefore, Whitney contends that Skinner's votes were illegal, and since he was the only person to receive votes for the office, the certificate of election should have been given him.

CITY GIVES UP, SICK OF LOSING RIOT SUITS

The first three of twenty-one suits against the city arising out of damages sustained during the race riots have been won, and according to Alderman Henry L. Pick, these three have been enough to demonstrate that the law is clear on the point of damages suffered during race riots or other disturbance.

With a view to saving the city the cost of further suits, he has introduced in council a resolution directing the law department and the finance committee to arrange a settlement with the other plaintiffs.

The three cases which have been tried have resulted in verdicts against the city ranging from $3000 to $5000.

All the plaintiffs were represented by Attorney A. L. Williams.

Say Robbins Man Burned Grocery for Insurance

Charles A. Thomas, a former officer of the village of Robbins, was indicted for arson by the Cook County grand jury last week. The indictment was returned in connection with the burning of a grocery store there owned by Cleveland Laws, who was also indicted.

Following the burning of the store, the Aetna Insurance Co., with whom the property was insured, refused to make a settlement, and caused an investigation, which resulted in the indictments.

Thomas is represented by Atty. Alva L. Bates.

"PEACH" LOSES LAST BATTLE FOR HIS JOB

(By Special Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Henry Lincoln Johnson's last hope for appointment last Tuesday when the Senate in open session ignored the committee's favorable recommendation and refused to confirm him as President Harding's nominee as Recorder of Deeds for the District of Columbia.

The veteran politician was visibly disappointed at the Senate's action. He looked the picture of dejection as he stood in one of the Senate ante-rooms receiving expressions of condolence from friends who had attempted to force the confirmation through. His face was deeply furrowed with lines of his recent illness, and his long black coat hung rather loosely from the once robust shoulders of the famous "Georgia Peach."

Attacked from Two Sides.

Johnson, who has for over a quarter of a century been recognized as the political dictator of his race in America, went down to defeat as the result of onslaughts of enemies from both races. His last and bitterest struggle for political preferment forms one of the most dramatic chapters in recent political history.

Figured in Lowden Scandal.

He came conspicuously into the limelight during the Republican Convention in Chicago, when it was charged that he spent $9000 swinging the Georgia delegation for ex-Gov. Lowden. Johnson's dramatic defense of his expenditures was one of the high lights of the investigation which followed.

After Senator Harding had been nominated he assumed control of the "Jim-Crow" Speakers Bureau which was set up and maintained by Harding's campaign managers. It then became Johnson's duty to swing the entire Black vote to the Republican nominee. This was considered a difficult task on account of serious defections in the ranks. Keen observers declare that the Democrats themselves, in their reluctance to bid for Black votes, made "Linc's" task less

THIEF NAMES DR. BIBB IN CONFESSION

James Pye, brother of Leonard I. 3351 South Park avenue, was arrested November 28, 1921, charged with burglarizing the residence of Richard S. Folsom, 2917 Michigan. Pye was in the employment of Folsom's for three years as butler. He was discharged on Oct. 11, 1921. On Oct. 20, the Folsom home was entered and burglarized, rugs, cut glass and silver, valued at approximately $4,000.00 were taken. In the three years of employment in the family as butler Pye had instilled enough confidence in the Folsom's that the suspicion of the burglary was not placed upon him. On Oct. 25th the Keystone National Detective Agency was called upon to investigate and Pye was traced to Springfield, his home, then Chicago. On Nov. 28th, containing several suits of clothing located at the Palace S. State St. Pye was owner, and locked of the Cottage Dr. M. W. WINS GIRL WIFE BUT LOSES LIFE 4 YEARS LATER

When William Jones, 39, 5127 Dearborn St., arranged with an old man to tell the license clerk that his fifteen year old bride was eighteen years of age, little did he imagine that on the account of this youthful bride that on Thanksgiving Day 1921 he would lose his life. Thus would open an introduction to a story of true life as stated by witnesses who knew this couple. The story and subsequent investigation by a representative from the Whip begin at this point:

Last January, Will Jones applied at the residence of widow G. Berry for lodging for himself and "wife." Jones was an admirable roomer and for several months he and his wife lived lovingly at this address. There was no evidence of friction between them.

Then it is reported that one Thomas Alexia, a friend of Jones, appeared upon the scene. He made a Cont. On Page Three
